THE PETROLEUM CASE.

CONTINUATION OF THE TESTIMONY.

AN AMESING SCENE IN COURT.

ALL ABOUT "GOING ON."

FINALE, &c.

Police Court, before Justice Dodge. An hour and a if was lost beyond the hour of adjournment, waiting for the arrival of counsel for the defence. This circum with the case, gave rise to a very amusing colloquy Examined—Q. Have you copies of your account with the fendant Mann? A. I don't know that this is a correct opy; it is a rough draft—contains portions of the account nyway. [Witness produced the copy referred to.] I say it is a copy of the whole account be e:n us; served Mann in all; I commenced, I think, the lat of November, and ended at the date our settlement, I think the lat of May; the rettlement was made the 1st of May, but was not concluded till May 4; cannot tell the whole amount of money I received from Mann during that time. [Witsuited the rough copy of accounts and replied. think about one thousand three hundred dollars in cash.

What on account of the 21st day of January, when commenced with him in November; I left the army, I think, in the middle of September; I was engaged at I think, in the middle of September; I was engaged at intervals from November in closing up my army accounts. Q When did you enter upon a specific? A. Considered myself under his employ from the 1st of November; received a note from him stating this agreement, but I was to have some time to settle my other accounts; it was understood that my salary should be going on from November. Q. Did you not, prior to December 29, when the understanding of agreement between you was entered upon, effect a sale of $5,000 worth of sets of accourtements? A. I cannot say that I did so myself, but with others I did, and it was understood between us that my commission would not depend upon sales effected only by myself. Q. Did you not receive $1,000 from Mann as commission on the sale of these $,000 sets of accourtements and compensation for your services at that time? A. I received $1,300 both as commission and salary; no definite amount was paid me for commission independent of salary; did not receive at any time $1,000 for commission, but received from him sums of money that were to be charged against me for commission and salary; when I went on with Mann I was to be paid when he got pad his account; but sometimes he paid me some moneys which I thought had overpaid my salary and something on the commission due on the sale of the accontrements, and I put these sums to the payment of the double account; but sometimes he paid my salary and something on the commission due on the sale of the accontrements, and I put these sums to the payment of the double account; before the 1st of January, according to this paper, he paid me $200; will not swear that is all, but to the bat of my knowledge it is $200. Q. What percentage were you to have for the fire thousand sets the sale of which you effected? A. I was to have twenty ents per set on the first five thousand sets; that was effected before the 1st of January, for all subsequent orders do the second dive thousand by your aid or assistance? A. I used my efforts in getting all the order to him on the redirect, but not being prepared with some necessary papers, proposed the case should be now adjourned. On this the following legal joust occurred:—

Mr. Banks—Are you through, Judge (Stewart)?
Mr. Banks—I am glad of it; let us adjourn.
Mr. Stewart—Yes.
Mr. Banks—I am glad of it; let us adjourn for?
Mr. Banks—For an adjournment, of course; I have not now some necessary papers which it is important I should have to "go on."
Mr. Stewart—Oh. "go on." with you.
Mr. Banks—I will not go on, sir; you did not "go on." with yourself when we pressed you. You talked of wanting time to "go on," sir, and you would not. I heard no excuse for your not doing so; but I will say that I presume you had a good one. Now, let us adjourn.
Mr. Stewart—On, sir, we'll "go on."
Mr. Banks—Well, "go on," then, and let us know shy you didn't "go on" before? (Laughter.)
Mr. Stewart—Fu not bound to answer that, sir.
Mr. Banks—And now you prate about a little delay when I am not ready to "go on." Why wern't you here at the time set down for going on with the case this morning?
Mr. Stewart—It wasn't to go on till two.

morning?

Mr. Siewart—It wasn't to go on till two.

Mr. Banks—One o'clock, sir, and you were not here ill twenty-three minutes after two.

Mr. Stewart—Half-past one, then, I'll say; I am sure it was for half-past one.

Mr. Banks—I say one, sir.

Mr. Stewart—I say half-past one, sir.

ENTER JUSTICE DODGE.

Justice Dodge—Now, then, gentlemen, are you ready to go on?

Justice Dodge—Which is it, gentlemen, Teady or not Justice Dodge—Which is it, gentlemen, Teady or not but I want my papers.

Justice Podge—Which is it, gentlemen, feady or not ready?

Mr. Banks—I am ready to go on, but I want my papers.

Mr. Banks—I am ready to "go on" with him, but—Justice Bodge—"Go on," then, Mr. Banks; have you any questions to ask him?

Air. Banks—Yes, sir, but—
Justice Dodge—Never mind the "buts," Mr. Banks, but just "go on" with him now.

Mr. Banks—My papers in the case are all at home, sir.

Mr. Stewart—Oh, this is all a farce, sir, all a farce I say. Now "go on" with your witnesses, he's yours.

Mr. Banks—I tell you I can't go on without my papers; you can keep on with him yourself if you like.

Mr. Stewart—You have nt a paper worth a straw, sir—not one. Now, then, "go on," please. (Laughter).

Justice Dodge (to Mr. Stewart)—Have you got through with him?

Mr. Stewart—Yes, sir.

Mr. Stewart—Yes, sir.

Justice Dodge—Now, then, Mr. Eanks, once more I say "go on" with him now, and finish him off.

Mr. Hanks—Judge, it's wrong to force me to "go on" rithout my papers.

Mr. Stewart...You have had time enough to get all your papers.

Mr. Banks—This is most unfair.
Mr. Stewart—What is that you say, sir?
Mr. Banks—I am not addressing you, sir?
Mr. Stewart—"Go on" then, sir.
Mr. Banks—Come; let us take a recess for five minutes,

Pastice Dodge-Oh, yes; for five minutes.

Banks—And while you gentlemen are down stair quietly look over my papers and see what I have (Laughter.) stice bodge—Let me understand the whole thing; if Justice bodge—Let me understand the whole thing; it you don't "go on" again to-day you say that you will be ready to "go on" to-norrow morning; you can "go on" at half-past eight if you like, gentlemen. Will you have your witnesses ready to "go on" in the morning, Mr. Banke?

Banks-Yes, sir; I will be ready to "go on" with

Mr. Banks—Ves, sir; I will be ready to "go on" with Mr. Goodrich.
Justice Bodge—Now, are you sure he'll be here?
Mr. Banks—Oh, yrs, sir,
Justice Bodge—Row long will it take you to get through with your witnesses?
Mr. Banks—I will finish it up with Mr. Davis in a very few minutes, and after that it won't take me long to get through with Goodrich.
Justice Bodge—You can't "go on" from Monday; for I won't be here.
Mr. Stewart (becoming again excited)—Oh, this whole pretence of not being able to "go on" is put forward to slave over the case.
Justice Bodge—I have nothing to do with that. I gave you fair warning all the month to got on with the case and conclude it as quickly as possible.
Mr. Stewart—Have we not done our best to keep going on all the time?
Justice Bodge (seemingly impressed with the force of this query)—Yes, very true.
Mr. Stewart—Yes, Judge; myzelf and Mr. Field have been roady and willing to "go on" all the time.
Justice Bodge had to put off other cases to enable me to "go on" with this, and now I m unt let this stand ever.
Mr. Stewart—I hope you will not sife.

Justice Dods't a cap't resp n, 1 can't "go on" with it after to-morrow.

What is got up for the purpose—I am afraid it is, but I make no charge.

got up for the purpose—I am airsia it is, one with it;
large.

Justice Bodge—I could not possibly "go on " with it; would take me ten days to read the testimony.

Mr. Stewart—I do not mean to be disrespectful, but I o hope you will not put the case over till September. udge, you are the last man to be disrespectful to.

Mr. Banks—Oh, that's it. Go on, Stewart.

Justice Bodge—It really cannot "go on" sconer, and I amot help it. You can take the case out of this court o some other by writ of criticrai.

Mr. Stewart—Oh, we don't want to do that, Judge.

Justice Bodge—Well, I can't be here.

Mr. Stewart—It is too bad to keep my clients here inder confinement and to hold witnesses over till September because—

Mr. Stewart—No. sir, I believe you there, and now you wen't "go on" because, as you say, you have no papers. This occurred before, and then you could not "go on" for want of papers. This is again the excusse for not "going on," without even stating their non-pro-

Mr. Hanks—All this talk, sir, is very fine.

Justic bodge—No, "go on," Mr. Banks.

Mr. Stewart—"Go on," sir.

Mr. Banks—I will not "go on," sir, for you; I would ke to know by whom I am to be governed here.

Mr. Stewart—Oh, suff! "go on."

Mr. Banks—Not at your mandate, sir.

Mr. Stewart—We will bring you to your senses some

FINALE-THE CASE GOES ON.

FINALE—THE CASE GOES ON.

Justice Bodge—Oh, gentlemen, "go on," will you?

Mr. Banks—If you say so, Judge.

Justee Bodge—Yes, "go on."

By Mr. Banks—You read or produced a receipt by Colonel Maun? A. I read such a form. Q. What character of receipts, with instructions, were furnished to you? A. The receipts for subscriptions were given me, signed in blank by Mann; can't say that I worded all the receipts in the same way; form of receipt signed by Mann in blank and used to be filled up by witness, produced, marked ex K; I have a power of attorney from Mann to receive moneys, (paper put in, ex L).

Case adjourned till two o'clock to morrow.

I told them; they wanted me to go down home; I was so weak frem loss of blood that I was unable to go down with the policemen; in dressing myself this morning I discovered another wound on my left thigh; I recognize the prisoner (Hooker) as the one who assaulted me; he is the one who kicked me on the floor; I did not see Hooker strike Smith; the short man struck deceased.

The case was then submitted to the jury, who, after a brief deliberation, rendered the following verdict:—"That the deceased, James Smith, came to his death from stab wounds at the hands of John Burns, on the evening of the 25th day of July, 1865, at the foot of Fifty-fifth street, East river, and we further believe Frederick Hooker accessory before the fact."

On this verdict Hooker was committed to the Tombs to await the action of the Grand Jury.

Coroner Collin also issued a warrant for the arrest of Burns and placed it in the hands of Captain Hartt, of the Ninteenth precinct, for execution.

Several vigilant officers are in pursuit of the fugitive Burns, and it seems almost impossible for him to escape, unless he leaves the country.

QUARTERS.
Patrick Burns, alias "Piper" Burns, the young man Patrick Burns, alias "Piper" Burns, the young man arrested by officers 'Harris and Vermilyes, of the Eighteenth precinct, on suspicion of being concerned in the murder of James Smith, proves to be an escaped convict from the Penitentiary. As he could not be implicated in the murder the officers took him back to Blackwell's Island, to serve out the remainder of his sentence. He was convicted of a brutal and unprovoked assault with a knife on a poor unoffensive German, in avenue A, and on conviction was sentenced to the Penitentiary for a term of months, but subsequently managed to escape. He is said to be one of the most dangerous offenders known to the Eighteenth precinct police, and his absence for a time will be a great relief to the citizens on the east side of town.

Police Intelligence.

Addison P. Smith, a real estate agent, living at No. 219 cest Forty eighth street, was arrested by Sergcant Loudon and officers Fiero and Anderson, of the Twentysecond precinct, on the charge of having stolen a quantity of dressed calfskins, valued at $780, the property of Norcissi Lauzin, doing business at No. 53 Vessy street.
On the 25th instant Sergeant Loudon found a portion of the stolen property in possession of Adam Roediger, No.
247 West Forty seventh street, who stated that the skins had been left with him by the accused, who requested that he should take good care of them till he called for them. George Cox, of No. 510 Tenth avenue, was employed by Smith to cart the goods to Roediger's place.
Mr. Smith was taken before Justice Connolly, of the Fourth district Police Court, and held in $1,000 hail to await an examination. Loudon and officers Fiero and Anderson, of the Twenty

ALLEGED TREFT OF BEDDING, ETC.

A young man named James Eveland was arrested by detective Wilson on the charge of having stolen a quanto Theodore Allen and Catharine his wife, residing at 809 Greenwich street. It is alleged that in April last Mrs. Allen stored the goods in question with the accused at 89 Mercer street, and when she called for them recently they could not be found, and Eveland failed to account for the missing property. Justice Dodge detained the accused for a hearing.

STABBING AFFRAY. Alexander Thompson, one of the seamen of the bark Acme, lying in the North river, was arrested yesterday by officers Waish and Harvey, of the Harbor Police, for stabbing the second mate of that vessel. He was com-mitted by Justice Hogan. The mate is not much in-

This regiment, as the above list shows, is commanded This regiment, as the above list shows, is commanded by Colonel John G. Wright, The Lieutenant Colonel is Thomas B. Marsb. The Major is.G. W. Whitman, brother of Walt Whitman, the poet. The regiment is named after Colonel Elliott F. Shepard, formerly of Governor Morgan's staff, who has been a father to it. Over two thousand men have been members of it since it was first recruited in 1861, and it numbers about four hundred and sixty on its return. Its record is splendid, it having participated in thirty-six battles and fights—one for every State in the Union. It has turned out two major generals and one brigadier general, all of whom are from this city. The reception will take place on Monday. The escort will be commanded by Colonel John B. Woodward, of the Thirteenth National Guard, and will be formed of that regiment, captain John W. Murray's company of the Eighty-fourth. The colonn will move from Grand street and the Bowery at three o'clock on Monday afternoon, march to the Park, up Broadway, and past the Union League Club House in Seventeenth street, where they will be reviewed by General Burnside. They will then march to the armory of the Seventy-first regiment, and be banqueted. Major General Hocker, Senator Morgan and other distinguished persons will be at the dinner, which will be under the direction of Colonel Vincent Colyer.

GENERAL DEBILITY AND CONSUMPTION CURED. HARMONTON, N. J., May 7, 1861

Dr. Branderri:—Dear Sir.—I have long wanted to write to you and express my gratitude for the beneficial effects that have been experienced in my own family, and in hundreds, aye, thousands, of others, by the use of Brandersh Pills. The first year my friend Brockway syld, your pills in Boston, 1834, I was then in a declining state of health, and my friends, as well as myself, supposed that my earthy voyage would soon terminate. Mr. Brockway urged me to take the Brandersh Pills; but having used so much medicine, with no good effect, I was more inclined to let batting take its course, and calmly submit to my fate. Mr. B. offered to give me one dozen boxes if I would take them and I thaily consented to take them, but not as a pitt. I went home and went at it most hopelessly. After taking one box I began to feel better. Well, sir, when I had used up my welfer boxes I was a well, healthy man—my weight having gone from ISI pounds up to 182 pounds. I then ordered a supply, and between that time and the present I retailed three thousand dollars' worth of these invaluable Pills, and an quite sure that I have thereby been instrumental in saving, not hundreds, but thousands of lives.

Yours, truly,
